ESL Warm-up Activity

To kick off the lesson, students can engage in a fun role-playing activity where they act out their daily routines. Each student takes turns describing their morning or evening routine while the others guess what activities they are describing. This not only encourages speaking and listening skills but also sets a lively atmosphere for the rest of the lesson.

Main ESL Lesson Activities

Vocabulary Activity: Daily Routine Bingo

To reinforce the vocabulary related to daily routines, create bingo cards with different daily activities in each square. Call out the activities in English and have the students mark off the corresponding squares on their cards. This encourages active listening and vocabulary recognition.

Listening Activity: Listen and Order

Provide students with a set of jumbled-up daily routine phrases. Play an audio recording or read aloud descriptions of different people's daily routines, and have students work individually or in pairs to put the phrases in the correct order.

Roleplay Activity: Daily Routine Interview

Pair up students and assign each pair a scenario (e.g., interviewing for a job). One student plays the role of an interviewer asking about the other student's daily routine, while the other answers using appropriate vocabulary. This activity promotes conversational English practice.

Reading and Writing Activity: Written Daily Schedule

Ask students to write down their own detailed daily schedule, incorporating as many vocabulary words related to their routines as possible. After completing this task individually, encourage group discussions where they can compare schedules and provide feedback on language usage.

ESL Homework Assignment

Students can be tasked with creating a daily routine diary for the next week, emphasizing the use of vocabulary and expressions learned in class. This exercise encourages independent practice and application of the lesson content in real-life contexts. Additionally, they can be encouraged to interview a family member or friend about their daily routine and present their findings in the next class, promoting interaction outside of the classroom environment.
