Each student takes turns speaking for two minutes on a topic while their partner listens actively. Select topics that prompt personal opinions or storytelling, setting the tone for authentic communication and preparing students for further public speaking exercises in the lesson.

Main ESL Lesson Activities

Vocabulary Building Activity: Dynamic Definitions

Enhance students' vocabulary and public speaking skills with a lively activity.

Provide each student with a vocabulary word related to public speaking. Instruct them to create an engaging definition for the term, incorporating vivid examples or personal experiences. Afterward, students present their definitions to the class, allowing for group discussions as classmates share feedback and insights on each definition.

Listening Exercise: Speech Analysis

Select a captivating speech relevant to the learners' interests or current events and play it for the class. Encourage active listening by distributing worksheets that outline key points discussed in the speech. Following this, facilitate a group discussion where students analyze elements such as tone, structure, and effectiveness of delivery.

Roleplay Activity: Public Speaking Scenarios

Divide students into small groups and assign each group a public speaking scenario (e.g., delivering a wedding toast, presenting at a conference). Students work together to create and rehearse short speeches based on their given scenarios. This hands-on exercise fosters collaborative learning while providing opportunities for peer evaluation and constructive feedback.

Reading & Writing Task: Speech Critique

Assign students to read various speech transcripts or excerpts from renowned speakers. Afterwards, ask them to compose critiques highlighting aspects such as persuasive techniques used, impactful language choices, and overall effectiveness of the speech. Encourage pair work during this task for enhanced comprehension through shared insights and perspectives in critiquing speeches.
