ESL Warm-up Activity

To set the tone for the Good Manners ESL lesson, start with a "Manners Match" game. Create flashcards with various scenarios depicting good and bad manners. Divide the class into small groups and distribute the flashcards among them. Instruct each group to match the scenario with either good or bad manners, discussing their choices together. This interactive activity not only captures students' attention but also encourages them to use language elements related to good manners in their discussions, setting a positive atmosphere for the lesson ahead.

Main ESL Lesson Activities

Vocabulary Activity: Manners Word Association

1. Divide the class into pairs or small groups.
2. Provide each group with a list of vocabulary words related to good manners (e.g., please, thank you, excuse me, sorry).
3. Instruct the students to brainstorm and discuss associations or situations where each word would be used.
4. Have each group share their findings with the class, promoting discussion and clarifying any misunderstandings.

Listening Activity: Manners in Everyday Situations

1. Prepare a short audio recording or find an online video that depicts various everyday scenarios.

2. Play the recording or video for the class once, without stopping.
3. Ask students to listen carefully and take notes on how people demonstrate good manners in those situations.
4. Play the recording or video again if needed.
5. Afterward, facilitate a class discussion about what they observed and encourage students to share their thoughts on the importance of good manners.

Roleplay Activity: Polite Conversations

1. Divide the class into pairs and assign them different scenarios where polite conversations are essential (e.g., ordering food at a restaurant, asking for directions).
2. Give each pair time to prepare and practice their roleplay using polite language and expressions related to good manners.
3. Have pairs perform their roleplays in front of the class, showcasing proper etiquette in different situations.
4. After each performance, lead a brief discussion on what they learned from watching their classmates' roleplays.

Reading and Writing Activity: Etiquette Guidebook

1. Provide students with excerpts from etiquette guidebooks that discuss specific etiquette rules for social gatherings (e.g., parties, weddings).
2. Ask them to read through these excerpts individually or in groups and highlight key points regarding good manners mentioned within the text. Develop their own guidebook page summarizing the etiquette rules for a specific social gathering.
3. Encourage students to write explanations and examples of good manners for each rule they include on their guidebook page.
4. Allow time for groups or pairs to share their pages with the entire class, fostering discussion and promoting understanding of proper etiquette in different situations.

ESL Homework Assignment

Homework Assignment: Manners Reflection

Assign students to reflect on their own behavior and manners in different situations. They can choose one or more scenarios, such as family gatherings, school interactions, or public places. Instruct them to write a short essay discussing their observations and how they plan to improve their manners based on what they have learned in the lesson. Encourage them to provide specific examples and reasons for their choices. This assignment reinforces the lesson by encouraging self-reflection and personal growth in terms of good manners.

Bonus Activity: Random Acts of Kindness

For an optional homework activity, suggest that students practice random acts of kindness throughout the week. They can record these acts in a journal or share them with the class orally or through a written reflection piece. This activity helps reinforce good manners by encouraging students to apply what they have learned in real-life situations and promotes empathy, kindness, and consideration towards others.

Note: The bonus activity is not mandatory but provides an additional opportunity for students to engage with the topic outside of class hours if desired.
