Contextual Usage

1. The doorbell rang, so we knew our friends had arrived.
2. It's important to share your toys with your siblings.
3. Let's divide this pizza into equal slices for everyone.
4. Have you read 'The Doorbell Rang' by Pat Hutchins? It's a lovely story about sharing.
5. Do you know how to multiply these numbers together?

ESL Warm-up Activity

To set the tone for the lesson, begin with a captivating warm-up activity. Create a scenario where students are given a plate of cookies or any treat that can be divided. Use this as an opportunity to introduce the concepts of 'share', 'divide', and 'multiply' by asking students to share and divide the treats equally among themselves. This hands-on activity will not only capture students' attention but also serve as an initial introduction to key vocabulary and themes of "The Doorbell Rang" lesson plan.

Main ESL Lesson Activities

Vocabulary Activity: Word Association

Begin by introducing the key vocabulary words from "The Doorbell Rang" lesson. Have students form pairs or small groups and provide each group with a set of vocabulary cards related to the story. Instruct them to take turns picking a card and incorporating the word into a sentence or short story related to sharing, division, or multiplication.

Listening Activity: Story Retelling

Play an audio recording of "The Doorbell Rang" story or read it aloud in class. Then, divide the students into small groups and have them discuss and retell the story in their own words. Encourage them to focus on key events and practice using the target vocabulary.

Roleplay: Sharing Scenarios

Divide students into pairs or small groups and provide each group with different scenarios involving sharing. For example, sharing toys, snacks, or books. Each group will roleplay their given scenario, focusing on using appropriate language and expressions related to sharing and dividing items fairly.

Reading and Writing Activity: Cookie Division

Provide students with a worksheet that includes several cookie-related math problems based on "The Doorbell Rang" story. For instance, if there are 12 cookies shared among 4 friends, how many cookies does each friend get? After completing the math problems, have students write short stories about sharing treats with friends using the target vocabulary.

These activities offer various opportunities for group discussions, pair work, and hands-on exercises to enhance comprehension while incorporating language elements relevant to "The Doorbell Rang" lesson plan throughout each activity.

ESL Homework Assignment

For homework, ask students to create a short story or comic strip that highlights the importance of sharing and fairness. Encourage them to use the vocabulary words introduced in class and incorporate them into their creative work. Additionally, they can write a reflection on a real-life scenario where they had to share something with others and discuss how it made them feel. This assignment reinforces the lesson content by allowing students to apply the concepts learned in "The Doorbell Rang" lesson plan to real-life situations and encourages further language practice outside of the classroom setting.
