ESL Warm-up Activity

To kick off the lesson on adverbs of frequency, start with a fun activity called "Frequency Charades." Write down various daily activities on separate cards (e.g., brushing teeth, doing homework, watching TV) and assign each card an adverb of frequency (e.g., always, usually, sometimes). Have students take turns drawing a card and acting out the activity while their classmates guess the corresponding adverb of frequency. This interactive game will not only energize the class but also reinforce the usage of adverbs of frequency in a memorable way.

Main ESL Lesson Activities

Vocabulary Activity: Frequency Bingo

To reinforce adverbs of frequency, create bingo cards with different adverbs of frequency written in the squares. Call out daily activities, and students mark the corresponding adverb of frequency on their cards. The first student to get a row filled shouts "Bingo" and wins the round.

Listening Activity: Frequency Interviews

Pair up students and have them interview each other about their daily routines using adverbs of frequency. Afterward, each pair presents their partner's routine to the class, incorporating the adverbs of frequency discussed during the interviews.

Roleplay Activity: Daily Routine Skits

Divide the class into small groups and assign each group a specific daily routine scenario (e.g., getting ready for school, preparing breakfast). Students create short skits incorporating adverbs of frequency to demonstrate how often each action occurs in their assigned routine.

Reading and Writing Activity: Frequency Journals

Ask students to maintain a journal for a week, documenting their daily activities and indicating how often they do each activity using adverbs of frequency. At the end of the week, students can share excerpts from their journals with the class and discuss any patterns or interesting findings.

ESL Homework Assignment

For homework, students are tasked with creating a daily routine diary for a fictional character of their choice. They should use adverbs of frequency to describe the character's activities throughout the week. Additionally, students are encouraged to include illustrations or pictures to complement their diary entries. This assignment reinforces the usage of adverbs of frequency and encourages creativity in writing.
